STAFFORDSHIRE BULL TERRIER WELFARE — IMPORTANT NOTICE —

In the beginning.....there was the Staffordshire Bull Terrier, and those who loved the breed. It wasn't the first among breeds, but it soon became amongst the most popular. Which is why many years ago, the need for a separate rescue group was identified by some of the breed stalwarts, who as a result started The Staffordshire Bull Terrier Rescue. As the need for help increased to major proportions, other areas throughout the country formed their own local groups to help the breed they loved. In August 1995 it was decided there was a need for a registered charity and "Staffordshire Bull Terrier Welfare" was created, to work along side the other SBT rescue groups in the country, but have a different, unifying role.

The "hands on" work would be left to the regional groups, whilst "SBT Welfare" would become a support group, encouraging the others to work together, as in unity there is strength. Charity status was conferred on "The Welfare" (as it is colloquially known) on the 14th October 1996.

"The Welfare" offers financial help to those who have Staffordshire Bull Terriers and are in need of financial assistance, for veterinary fees, kennelling, and similar contingencies. Requests for such support are subject to a majority approval of the trustees.

Staffordshire Bull Terrier Welfare relies entirely on public donations for its continuing existence. In their turn many Staffordshire bull terriers rely on "The Welfare" to help them lead a healthier life. You can help "The Welfare" help Stafford's in need in a number of ways: by joining as a friend, by making a donation, by standing order, a charity cheque, or remembering SBT Welfare in your will.

Leaving a legacy to Staffordshire Bull Terriers.

If you decide to make a bequest to the Staffordshire Bull Terrier Welfare it would probably be helpful to think about the type of bequest you would like to make before you go to see your solicitor:

The two most common types of bequest area Pecuniary legacy, this is the kind of bequest where you leave a specified sum of money.

A Residuary legacy, if you make a residuary bequest, the charity receives whatever is left of your estate after family and friends have received their share and debts including death duties have been paid.
